Featured Speakers

Kate White

Deputy Secretary of Environmental Policy and Housing Coordination, California State Transportation Agency

Increasing Healthy Transportation Networks

Deputy Secretary White leads the state's work to align California's transportation systems and housing plans with the state's environment goals. These efforts include emphasizing planning priorities for infill instead of sprawl, natural resource conservation, and reducing emissions.

Clyde Holland

CEO & Chairman, Holland Partner Group

Business Keynote

Holland Partner Group is behind numerous upcoming residential developments throughout the Downtown area, including a pair of 24-story towers on Spring Street and a 28-story building in South Park.

Currently Holland Partner Group has almost 7,000 residential units under development and construction within the Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona and Colorado markets.

Phillip A. Washington

CEO, Metro

Planning for the Largest Transportation Investment in Modern History

Last November, Los Angeles County voters overwhelmingly passed Measure M, raising $120 billion over the next 40 years to build a 21st century public transit system.

Overseeing this comprehensive investment initiative, Washington will outline Metro's priorities including public-private partnerships and new opportunities for the private sector.
